Because we know that a critical aspect in preventing illness is frequent and proper handwashing, we pledge that all staff will be thoroughly educated as to when and how to properly wash their hands. We have a commitment to our patients to see that this standard of excellence occurs.

The following employees have received handwashing training and pledge to follow appropriate sanitation procedures at all times.

________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________
________________________________________  ______________________________